

Project Profile

Nottingham University – Bio-Molecular Science

Introduction

A new chapter in global healthcare research opened in Nottingham in May with the launch of the Centre for Biomolecular Sciences- a centre of excellence that will pool the world-leading expertise of 300 top scientists.

With massive investment in state-of-the-art facilities, the Centre is The University of Nottingham's largest ever research structure and one of the biggest, best-funded centres of its kind in the UK.
